

SERVSAFE: Upcoming 2-day Food Safety Courses

Attention: Food Services Management

As per the Alberta Food Regulation:

If 6 or more food handlers are working (includes servers), a trained food handler must be on site. Owners of more than one establishment must have a different trained manager for each site. If there are 5 or fewer food handlers working, at least one member of the management/supervisory staff must be certified (doesn't necessarily have to be on site).

ServSafe is an in-depth two day food safety course and fulfills the requirement for provincial food safety certification. Certification is recognized internationally and lasts 5 years. The next courses will be:
