

LETTER OF RECOGNITION

Environmental Public Health Week is a national campaign initiated in 2003 by the Canadian Institute of Public Health Inspectors (CIPHI) to recognize the vital role of all Environmental Public Health Professionals (EHPs) across Canada, and the importance of environmental public health programs in our health care system. EHPs are front-line health professionals in Canada, including certified Public Health Inspectors and Environmental Health Officers.

EHPs provide services in a number of areas including food safety, air and drinking water quality, outbreak management and the prevention of food borne illnesses. In the city of Calgary and across Canada, these dedicated professionals are committed to promoting and protecting public health and continually meeting new challenges from the environment that can affect human health.

I am pleased to recognize January 18 – 24, 2009 as Environmental Public Health Week and to acknowledge the important work that EHPs do on a daily basis to protect the health of Calgarians.
